

Employment Rights Act 2025 Timeline for Implementation

Update	Details of measure	Date measure comes into force*	Projected REC document and/or legal guide update dates*
2026 Changes
Automatic unfair dismissal for participating in industrial action.	Employees will be protected from dismissal related to taking part in industrial action beyond the current 12-week period of protection. Before this change, employees were protected from dismissals that took place within 12 weeks of the worker starting the industrial action.	February 2026	No REC document updates anticipated.
Introduction of Joint and Several Liability for PAYE payments in relation to agency workers supplied by umbrella companies. Under Chapter 11 ITEPA 2003.	From 6th April 2026, agencies with a direct contractual relationship with end-user clients who use umbrella companies will become strictly liable to HMRC for shortfalls in the PAYE on umbrella company workers' pay. This will be the case even if the umbrella company employs the worker and the shortfall is down to them. Strict liability	April 2026	February 2026

	means that HMRC only needs to identify a PAYE shortfall for an agency to be liable. This means that it will not be possible for agencies to raise a defence against liability, and HMRC will not consider any steps an agency took to ensure that an umbrella company they were using was making the correct PAYE payments to HMRC through due diligence checks. Whilst the wording joint and several liability is used in the draft legislation on these measures, HMRC has made it clear that it will pursue the party with the direct contractual relationship with the end-user client for liability and this is usually the agency.
